

CLAIMS

I claim:

- [c1] 1. A spark-discharging device for an engine or other uses where a fuel or other gases are to be ignited comprising of a contact set including a movable electrode and ground electrode positionable within the engine combustion chamber and suitable operating mechanism to close the contact set, thereby discharging a capacitor coupled to and creating a spark upon engagement of the contact set.